MUD AND DUST.

How to get Rid of Both-A sug-gestion to the Board of Aldermen,

Vesterday was a most delightful day, considering the season of the year—when we are taught traditionally to look for "weeping skies and wailing winds, and meadows brown and sear." The winds we had, but they did not "wail" much, although they did raise considerable of a dust—an abomination that even the Nicholson, with all its virtues, is unable to abate. Indeed the Nicholson only seems to aggravate the nuisance, and there is no earthly reason why it should. On the contrary, it ought to free us from every semblance of dirt, dust and mud. In the cities and towns of Germany, and In the cities and towns of Germany, and ready given our readers a list of the sta-portions of France, the streets are paved bles and horses that are here to take part with common cobbie stones, and ail in the sport. The track is in excel though some of them are as much, and lent condition, and the weather beautiful even more traveled than our own, dust so we may look for a splendid time. In FALL MEETING, 1868. is unknown there, and that at no cost of another column may be found the en-"watering," or dues to the street com-tries, etc., for the day. missioners. It is made the duty of every householder to have the street front of his dwelling, or place of business, cleanly swept every morning. This operation takes the stut, hearty "Dienst-Maedschen" five minutes, maybe, daily, and by this judicious expenditure of a few moments' labor, dust is entirely conquered and Now, why cannot our Board of Aldermen, who are all gentlemen of the "Party of Progress," pass an ordinance requiring every householder along our paved streets to do the same way? Let the Sirest Commissioners have them thoroughly cleaned and swept, and the dirt earted off once, and then make the on improved street letter box, the patent dirt carted off once, and then make the property-holders keep them clean, detailing from the corporation force three or four, or a haif dezen carts, to carry off the dust heap daily. This, even if an only in this particular, but in others. the dust heaps daily. This, even if an extra tax of a few cents were imposed, would not cost so much as the street watering now does, and would also avoid the uppleasant mud, and data pness unby a lid so contrived that when it is der foot, engendered by this process. On Monday m the Sheriff of Logan county left Russellvitie for Louisville, for the purpose of taking Sheppard out of jail for trial at that place. There can be no doubt that the friends of the robber, who designed resculng him, were well posted in reexpecting him to return with Shep-pard on Monday night, resolved to rescue him and in order to make the movement as successful as it was daring, the cutting of the telegraph wires became necessary, so as to shut off all communication with Louisville, Nashville and other points, giving Sheppard ample time to make off and conceal himself. To complete the scheme, the wires should also have been cut near Louisville, but through some miscalculation, this was not done, and the party who were expecting to attack the train got word that Sheppard would not leave intil Monday night.
